

High-speed rail potential in Nevada, California

The two proposed high-speed rail lines would cost billions of dollars and take years to build. If either plan comes to fruition, Southern Nevadans would be able to travel quickly to California, and possibly connect with a high-speed rail line California has proposed. The map below shows the proposed rail lines.

SOURCES: DesertXpress, American Magline Group

LAS VEGAS SUN